

April 1 - 3:

Moon in Aquarius (Waning):

The Moon enters Aquarius at 9:37 pm EDT on April 1st kick starting the month with the sign of the rule breaker.

Now, if we've learnt anything in the first part of 2016, it's that there is a lot of change afoot and a lot rising to the surface. Aquarius is here to help us break the paradigms that we no longer fit into.

This energy is carrying on the work that was set into motion by the eclipse cycle which brought up SO much of what we will/won't put up with anymore, what we want our future to look like and so on.

Pay attention to different flashes of inspiration and intuition that could flare up, there is a lot of information making it's way to you right now. Listen to it.

Venus conjunct Ceres (April 1):

This energy can bring out a very deep and nurturing energy. We can have a soul depth longing to care for and be cared for.

Watch during this time that we are not attaching ourselves too much and forming obsessions and co-dependency. Spend time in nature or around Earthy items to ground and center energy.

Sun quincunx Jupiter (April 4):

This alignment can bring about change, especially when it comes to momentum and leadership. This can be a time of questioning if you should follow or is it the time to take up a role of leading. Are you the teacher or are you the student?

This is a time of allowing movement and flow, moving with things as they happen. In order to be a successful leader, we must roll with the punches so to speak. This aspect can bring us to a place where there are shifts occurring, moving the foundations that we have set and plans we had. Stay present and open to the unfolding.

Cosmic Keys: Break the chains of the past. Connect but don't depend. Big changes; stay flexible. Are you the student or the teacher?
